Stratum Global and Miles Technologies Accelerate RFID Adoption with Strategic Partnership

Littleton, CO. — March 27, 2007 — Stratum Global, a leading RFID solution provider, today announced it has entered into a strategic partnership with Miles Technologies, an RFID systems integration and software development company based out of Lake Zurich, IL. With this partnership, Miles adds Stratum Global's TagNet RFID solution to their extensive portfolio of technology products. Both organizations see the significant contribution that RFID can provide with a state of the art solution that drives value and a return on investment (ROI).

"We are excited about the opportunity in adding Stratum Global's TagNet RFID solution suite to our solution offerings. This partnership will accelerate Miles Technologies delivery capabilities of an integrated RFID solution to customers that need complete RFID enabled solutions for Closed-Loop and Asset Management applications," said Tom Beusch, president of Miles Technologies.

By teaming with Stratum Global, Miles RFID solution strategy now includes Stratum Global's TagNet RFID solution suite. With an open architecture, TagNet is a scalable, platform agnostic, release managed RFID software solution suite. TagNet has full multilingual capability, supports object networks and includes application modules for advanced functionality including RFID enabled lift trucks, tagging stations (conveyors) and auto deployment capability to RFID devices. With extensive RFID implementation experience, Stratum and Miles's knowledge base will serve as a fundamental framework for product advancements.

“Miles Technologies is a recognized leader in the RFID/barcode market space and we are excited about working together for our customer’s benefit,” said Bill Hood, chief operating officer, Stratum Global. “Miles existing product suite and position in the market compliments TagNet and provides end users with a full spectrum of RFID solutions with scaleable choices.”
