Weidenhammer Systems Corporation joins forces with Stratum Global Partnership to deliver Radio Frequency Identification Solutions

Oak Brook, Ill. — June 22, 2005 — Stratum Global and Weidenhammer Systems Corporation have announced a partnership agreement.

Delivering best-in-class RFID business solutions requires a solid understanding of the emerging industry's key issues, current trends, the unique needs of the customer, and the latest technology available to address complex requirements. This partnership enables Weidenhammer to provide its customers with Stratum Global's TagNet RFID Solutions for "Closed Loop", "EPCglobal Compliance" and "Fixed Assets".

Alan Christensen, partner and chief technical officer at Stratum Global, said, "We are excited about this relationship. Weidenhammer has a solid track record of proven experience in the supply chain arena as well as providing the highest level of satisfaction for its customers. These customers will benefit from the new relationship by working with a firm that already understands their business and can help them effectively implement an RFID solution. This experience is essential for a successful RFID project."

Debbie Longacre, managing director of solution delivery at Weidenhammer, said, "Weidenhammer is excited about this new partnership. A number of our clients are beginning to encounter RFID compliance mandates and are looking for a place to start with RFID. In addition, our clients are looking at ways to use RFID beyond compliance to assist their organizations in making processes more effective and efficient; thus bringing bottom line returns to their organizations. Now we have a set of affordable and scaleable solutions that will address the requirements of our clients."
